

Sydney's Farewell To World-Famous Five

CROWD PACKS SHIP TWO HOURS BEFORE SAILING

Five world-famous personalities left Sydney yesterday in the liner Monterey for San Francisco.

Sydney people gave them and the 635 other persons who sailed in the liner a rousing farewell.

For two hours before sailing time the crowd packed the ship.

It took officials three-quarters of an hour to clear them off.

They were attracted by the presence of:—

Millionaires Francis V. Du Pont and David A. Hamburger.

Artur Schnabel, celebrated pianist.

Charlotte Greenwood, famous American actress.

Anna May Wong, Chinese film star of Hollywood.

Adolph Zukor, Paramount Pictures head and founder of film industry.

Millionaires Hamburger and Du Pont kept in their cabins until the liner cast off.

"This is the only place I have visited where I would like to live, other than Delaware, U.S.A.," said Mr. Du Pont, carefully opening his cabin door six inches.

"It's a wonderland for the tourist," said Anna May Wong. "I loved the bushland, and the natural beauty of the country made me ache."
